

Sreeremya Sambath

HOD - Design

Design Thinking | Creative Entrepreneurship | Human-Centred Innovation | Sustainability | Design Education

Drawing from diverse experiences in education, industry, innovation ecosystems, and entrepreneurship, Sreeremya brings a practice-led perspective to design education. Her work focuses on nurturing creative confidence, critical thinking, and an entrepreneurial mindset among emerging designers.

Through academic leadership, mentoring, curriculum development, and design-led ventures in apparel and retail, she advocates for design as a catalyst for meaningful and sustainable change.

A postgraduate from the National Institute of Design (NID), Ahmedabad, she has worked across design education, innovation consulting, entrepreneurship development, retail, and apparel manufacturing. Her experience includes mentoring entrepreneurs, facilitating innovation and capacity-building programmes, developing academic initiatives, and leading design-led business ventures.

Her interests include design thinking, creative entrepreneurship, innovation facilitation, sustainability, and experiential learning, with a particular focus on applying design approaches to real-world contexts and opportunities.
